DAILY PARADES AT ENCAMPMENT

Sons of Veterans Camp will Open Next Sunday Afternoon with Elaborate Ceremony. Daily Parades and Concerts Every Evening.

Camp General O. O. Howard, composed of well on to 1000 Pennsylvania Sons of Veterans, will open formally next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock with impressive ceremonies. Colonel Henry Stewart of Gettysburg will be in command.

The camp site at the northeast edge of town is assuming definite proportions. The headquarters tents are in position, water mains are being laid, temporary buildings erected and everything gotten in readiness for the arrival of the first troops. Advance details to pitch tents will reach Gettysburg on Thursday evening and the work of making ready the final details of the camp will be started early Friday morning.

The exercises at the opening of the camp on Sunday afternoon will consist of the unfurling of the flag at headquarters, the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Second Regiment Band, of Allentown, a national salute of twenty one guns, a welcome by Dr. T. C. Billheimer and a short sermon by Rev. F. E. Taylor. There will be "America" by the band and other music by a quartet. Immediately following the opening exercises regular camp routine will be taken up and a formal guard mount will be held.

Many features of interest are promised Gettysburg people during the encampment. Every evening, except Wednesday, at 7:15 there will be an evening parade on Prep campus. Wednesday evening at six o'clock a street parade through Gettysburg will be held for the people of the town and the Grand Army veterans here to attend their state encampment. There will be evening concerts regularly from eight to nine o'clock and Gettysburgians who enjoy military camp life may see their share of it next week.

Coming, as it does, at a time when the Civil War veterans are here for their state encampment and others are gathering for the big battle anniversary celebration, the Sons of Veterans' camp will have added significance this year and will doubtless be one of the big attractions next week.

While the encampment is in progress the civic body will be meeting in the town, swelling the crowd of visitors by several hundred. The evening features have already been announced in these columns.

MRS. J. W. BARNITZ

Mrs. Barnitz Died Suddenly at her Home in New Oxford.

Mrs. Minnie Cashman Barnitz, wife of James W. Barnitz, of New Oxford, died suddenly at her home about one o'clock Sunday morning aged 38 years.

Mrs. Barnitz had been well as usual on Saturday and spent the afternoon in Hanover. Before retiring in the evening she complained of asthma with which she suffered at times. She became very rapidly worse during the night and died between midnight and one o'clock. Mrs. Barnitz had a wide circle of friends in New Oxford, Gettysburg and Hanover and her sudden death was a great shock to all who knew her.

She leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Z. H. Cashman, of New Oxford; her husband and three daughters, Madeline, Frances and Helen Barnitz, all at home. She also leaves two brothers and three sisters, Dr. B. Z. Cashman, of Lafayette, Ind.; Arthur Cashman, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Maud Cashman Deal and Miss Lottie Cashman, at home; and Miss Ida Cashman, a teacher in the public schools of Hanover.

Funeral from her late home Wednesday morning at ten o'clock, conducted by her pastor Rev. L. Dow Ott. Interment in the New Oxford cemetery.

EXPECT 50,000 IN LARGE CAMP

Early Estimate as to Low. Immense Amount of Material Needed at Camp of Veterans. All New. Expenses will be High.

The latest figures in the hands of the Battle of Gettysburg Commission show that between 50,000 and 55,000 veterans will be present from all parts of the country. Pennsylvania's delegation will be the largest, with 20,000. Of the Southern States Virginia will lead, with 1800.

The requirements for the visiting veterans are enormous. Ten men will be assigned to a tent. There will be 54,000 cots for them, 11,000 lanterns, 200 blankets. The camp equipment, everything new and never before in use, represents a total value of $600,000. In the canvas of the tents is $265,000 and the deterioration is calculated to be about $1000 a day. This is figured on the basis that the life of an average army tent is 265 days.

When finished there will be twenty miles of street. From now until when the veterans arrive a force of from 135 to 160 civilian laborers will be employed. One hundred and sixty-eight kitchens with 400 field ranges will be handled by a detail of 1600 cooks, bakers, helpers, etc. Of these the bakers number one hundred and thirty-two, and will be required to bake 50,000 loaves of bread daily.

Four wells have been sunk by the War Department, and 32 bubbling fountains to quench the thirst of visitors will be placed throughout the battlefield. In each of these is a pit with 50 feet of coiled pipe, covered by cracked ice to keep the water cold. There will be two field hospitals and three infirmaries or emergency hospitals. Rest stations will be opened at various points, including Culp's Hill and Little Round Top. In them nurses will be stationed to care for veterans temporarily upset by the heat or excitement. There will be 40 Red Cross nurses and 10 Red Cross doctors on hand, together with 15 medical officers of the regular army and 100 men of the medical corps.

THE BASS SEASON

Monday, June 16, Opening of this Year's Bass Season.

The lawful season for catching black bass, salmon, pike and grass bass in the waters of Pennsylvania begins to-day. Sunday marked the opening of the season, but as that date fell on Sunday this year the season did not open until to-day.

The laws regulating bass fishing are the same as last year, no changes having been made by the legislature now in session. However, changes in the fish laws are pending in the legislature and may be made before the session adjourns.

The lawful size of bass to be caught is not less than 8 inches and a limit of 12 in one day is the legal catch allowed for one person. Fishing for bass will be permitted until Nov. 30.

But one change has been effected thus far this year in fishing regulations, that being the elimination of the fish basket. Recently Governor Tener signed a bill prohibiting the use of fish baskets and the law is now effective. Therefore the fish basket, or eel pot, is a thing of the past in Pennsylvania.

GAS EXPLOSION INJURES TWO

Accumulation of Acetylene Gas Explodes at Springs Hotel when Match is Lighted. Two are Badly Burned. No Other Damage.

Roy Eckenrode, son of Joseph Eckenrode, of Washington street, and Grover Cluck, son of Conrad Cluck, of Breckenridge street, were severely burned about 4:30 Saturday afternoon in the rear basement of the Springs Hotel when a heavy explosion of acetylene gas followed the lighting of a match.

The young men are in the employ of the Gettysburg Supply House, which has the contract for connecting the old gas pipes or the hotel with a new acetylene plant located about 150 feet from the main building. On Saturday much time was spent in finding and closing leaks in the old pipe lines and about all had been fixed when a large leak in the rear cellar was detected. Eckenrode and Cluck were sent down to find the exact location. The basement was thoroughly permeated with the escaping gas and the men had just found the hole when Eckenrode suggested that Cluck strike a match. Cluck did so and immediately there was a loud report as the accumulation of gas took fire.

Both men were thrown with force to the ground, Cluck falling first and Eckenrode being thrown on top of him. After the first shock they recovered themselves sufficiently to crawl through a small open window into the yard where it was found that their faces and arms were scorched by the flames. The explosion was over in an instant and nothing caught fire. The men were hurried to town in J. G. Slonaker's automobile and given attention. They will not be able to do any work for a week.

That a more serious result did not follow the explosion was due to the fact that all the windows in the basement had been raised and much of the escaping gas had found its way to the open. The remaining leaks were fixed after the accident and on Saturday evening the entire lighting system of the hotel was in working order.

SAFEGUARDS HERE

Urges Establishment of Railroad Loop. Is not Practicable.

"No ordinary obstacles should be permitted to stand in the way of any thing that will contribute to the safety and welcome of the old soldiers who are to gather on the battlefield of Gettysburg at the coming anniversary, as well as of the concourse of men, women and children who will attend the exercises," says an editorial in the Philadelphia Bulletin. "If the proposed connection of the two railroads to form a loop over which trains might operate in a single direction in practicable from an engineering point of view, as the War Department evidently thinks, such administrative problems as may be involved in the part of the railroads should yield to the necessities of the occasion."

"The War Department is to have charge of the veterans' camp on the reservation, and it is to be assumed that nothing will be lacking in provisions for the sanitary and comfortable care of the old soldiers. And while the transportation problem is a matter of private enterprise in which the public will look to the railroad managements for the highest type of service, it is proper that the solicitude of the State and National governments should be expressed for the nearest possible attainment of absolute safety. The success of the anniversary requires not only the assembling of a great crowd—which is assured—or that the exercises shall pass with eclat, but that there shall be no incident or aftermath to mar the record and its memories. If the construction of the proposed loop reaching to the camp would promote the convenience and safety of the old soldiers, it is a pity that the suggestion was not made at an earlier time, when the difficulties in the way of its attainment might have been overcome."

The suggestion was made a year or more ago but declared impracticable by railroad experts.

ARE ACCEPTING THE INVITATION

First Acceptances of Invitation to Attend Big Anniversary Celebration Received from Governors of New York and New Jersey.

Secretary Beidler, of the Gettysburg Commission, has received acceptances to attend the big reunion at Gettysburg in July from Governor Sulzer, of New York, who will be accompanied by Mrs. Sulzer and a member of his staff, and from acting Governor Fielder, of New Jersey.

The invitations sent to distinguished personages by the Fiftieth Anniversary of Gettysburg Battle Commission to be the guests of Pennsylvania during the ceremonies incident to the anniversary of the great fight in July next, are works of art. Besides the letter text of the invitation on the invitation is placed the coat of arms of Pennsylvania embossed in gold. Beneath the coat of arms is the gold embossed obverse and reverse of the medal that will be given to each invited guest. The obverse shows a Union and Confederate soldier, with uncovered heads, bowing to the allegorical figure of Peace which forms the background. The reverse shows the outline of the State of Pennsylvania, over which are two clasped hands, one reaching down from the North, the other reaching up from the South, with a background of the keystone and entwined laurel leaves. The medals, of the same design, are in gold and silver gilt and gun-metal. These will be attached to a ribbon, different colors being used for different guests.

The work of preparing the equipment for the encampment is progressing quite rapidly. Tents, cots, and blankets are being unloaded by a force of twenty five or thirty men, many of whom are town and college boys. They are divided into groups, each under a clerk, who counts all the things that are unloaded, and those that are placed into the wagons to be hauled to the quartermaster's tents, or to large piles. An officer of the commissary department oversees this.

A saw mill is at work sawing boards into shape to make the tables, and the small blocks left are being used for fire wood.

Electric lights have been placed in two rows of officers' tents.

DAMAGE BY FROST

Many Orchards Reported More or Less Injured.

Specimens of branches of fruit trees being sent by mail to State Zoologist H. A. Surface at the present time show more injury by frost effects than by any other cause or combination of causes. All such twigs show that the leaves have turned dark or brown, and the fruit is dwarfed or rudimentary. It looks very much like the disease commonly called fire blight or black blight, but it differs from this in the fact that the leaves are not so dark in color, but shriveled and wrinkled, and the wood is not so dark. Also in the frost injury the line between the injured and living wood is not sharply marked, whereas in blight injury there is generally a sharply marked line between the dead and the live mark.

There is a universal complaint, not only over Pennsylvania but over most of the States of the Union, to the effect that injury by the freezing of May 10 was unusually severe. One gentleman in York county reported that he expected a crop of five thousand bushels, but under the circumstances, lost the entire crop and will not have a peck of apples in his orchard.

THE RAPID SPREAD OF ADVERTISING NEWS

Many of the household articles in daily use in our homes, many of the perfected ideas in wearing apparel, and much of the advanced thought in living to-day would not now be benefiting humanity were it not for the advertising in newspapers like THE TIMES.

As a concrete example much to the point, a prominent manufacturer and distributor of a foot-form shoe for children—a shoe of special construction and down-to-the-date features—recently advertised in twenty of the principal cities east of the Mississippi River for a period of four weeks.

At the end of that time he experienced such a demand for this shoe that he has been unable to fill his orders on time for many weeks.

The public who read his advertisements in an incredibly short time learned, to its profit, about something that benefited it, something that filled a real need, and responded by practically doubling the manufacturer's business.

By this systematic series of advertisements the producer, the retailer, and the consumer were helped. This is just one case. There are hundreds like it.

MEXICAN REBELS SUFFER DEFEAT

150 Killed and Many Wounded in Fight With Federals.

MACHINE GUNS PLAY HAVOC

President Huerta Takes Reins of Government Into His Own Hands to Pacify Country.

Mexico City, Mex., June 16.—Two thousand Carranistas were defeated by a body of federal troops under General Telles Pena at Can de Bustamante, near Villa Aldama.

The rebels had 150 killed and a great many wounded. The federal losses are not stated, but will not exceed fifty. The rebels laid a plan to ambush the federals in a canon and were assisted by the people of the nearby town of Bustamante. The federals, however, mowed the rebels down with machine guns.

Telegraphic communication with Campeche, where Governor Castillo started a revolution some time ago was resumed. Information received from that place is that Governor Castillo and his followers have retreated to the mountains before the federal troops, who have occupied Campeche. Senor Urrutis, the new minister of the interior, says the rebel Zapata will probably surrender to the government now that the cabinet is able to offer guarantees.

It is rumored that the federals under General Delgado have recaptured Zatecas from the rebels. No details as to this movement have been received.

The recent cabinet changes seem to indicate that General Huerta is determined to take the reins of government into his own hands without confiding to subordinate the direction of military events or the civil measures for pacifying the country.

It is now an open secret that General Huerta and General Mandragon, the minister of war, disagreed because the provisional president did not leave the war minister at liberty to direct the campaigns without any interference from the acting executive.

The minister of war was angry because of General Huerta's interference with his work and for more than a week had practically superseded General Mandragon in arranging the personnel of military columns and also by receiving reports direct from officers in the field.

General Huerta's selection of General Blanquet as minister of war shows that Huerta is determined to run matters himself, as General Blanquet has for a long time operated under orders from the provisional president. General Blanquet was chief assistant to Huerta in the coup d'etat when the late President Madero was thrown into prison and afterwards assassinated.

Provisional President Huerta announces that he will redouble the government's activity against the rebels in all parts of the country.

SHOT DEAD ON STREET

Man Dines With Another's Wife and Is Killed by Husband.

Shenandoah, Pa., June 16.—Patrick Kerns, thirty years old, a school director and treasurer of Brownsville, a suburb, was shot and killed on Main street here by John J. Barnes, forty years old, a carpenter.

Barnes declares that Kerns caused him and his wife to separate several weeks ago. Barnes saw the pair in a restaurant, dining behind a screen. He waited on the outside and killed Kerns as he came out. A second bullet narrowly missed his wife.

Chief of Police Walsh arrested the murderer and his wife Barnes was held for trial after a hearing before Justice Bierlin. His wife was also held under $500 bail to appear at the trial.

BARS BACCARAT AND POKER

Stakes at Bridge at Royal Party Will Be Limited.

London, June 16.—When Queen Mary's guests at Windsor Castle for the Ascot races assemble at the card tables after dinner they will find printed notifications that baccarat and poker are barred and that stakes at bridge must not exceed half a crown a hundred points.

Heretofore baccarat has been the favored gambling game at this Windsor race party and very high stakes have been played for.

Latterly Queen Mary has been carrying on a campaign against gambling among the members of the royal household, especially among the ladies-in-waiting, who have thus sought relief from the dullness of the court.

Vision of Death Comes True.

Pottsville, Pa., June 16.—Warned by a vision in a dream that he would be killed if he went to work, John Armina stood at the mouth of a drift at the Eagle Hill colliery and hesitated for an hour before he went to work. He finally entered the mine, and had not gone twenty feet when he was struck by an empty car, which broke away from a train, and his neck was broken.

HAWAII PREPARES FOR WAR WITH JAPAN

Troops Fortifying Crater of Extinct Volcano.

Boston, June 16.—American troops in the Hawaiian Islands have taken possession of the crater of a large extinct volcano situated on the east coast and are working night and day to convert it into a fortress capable of withstanding a long siege.

Ammunition, food supplies and other supplies are being stored within it, guns are being mounted, a water supply has been arranged for and gardens have been planted on the slopes of the crater to provide food and thus render the place self-sustaining in case it is besieged for any great length of time.

This information reached Boston from an authentic source in Honolulu, and the communication further said that the Americans residing in the Hawaiian Islands, including the troops, are very much exercised over the Japanese situation.

It was stated in Honolulu that war with Japan is regarded as certain, and recognizing the fact that under ordinary circumstances the 60,000 Japanese living in the islands, most of whom are former soldiers, would have little difficulty in seizing the possessions, the authorities are straining every nerve to prepare to resist to the last.

THROWN FROM BUS BY WIRE

Man Nearly Decapitated and Two Others Are Injured.

Long Beach, L. I., June 16.—A double-decked automobile bus, loaded with employees of the New York Confectionery company, passed beneath a drooping wire swung from pole to pole across the Riverside boulevard, Long Beach.

The wire caught beneath the chins of two young men who were on the roof of the bus, almost decapitated them and brushed them to the pavement. A third man whom it hit had four teeth knocked out when he fell. The three were taken to the Hempstead hospital.

The worst hurt is William Plenge, of New York. The wire cut into his neck until the windpipe was partly severed and his skull seems to be fractured. It is believed that he will die. John Duffy, whose larynx is punctured, may recover.

GOVERNOR BREAKS GROUND

Turns First Spade of Earth For College at Newark, Del.

Wilmington, Del., June 16.—Work on Delaware's first institution of higher learning for women was started today when ground was broken for the Delaware Affiliated college, at Newark. The new institution is the result of an ardent campaign conducted chiefly by the State Federation of Women's Clubs. The recent legislature appropriated $150,000 for the erection of the new college.

At the ground breaking was Governor Miller, of Delaware, and Governor Goldsborough, of Maryland. Governor Miller turned the first spade of earth. The main address was delivered by Dr. Hannah R. Lyons, of Lincoln, Pa.

Italian Stabbed to Death.

Olean, N. Y., June 16.—With six stiletto wounds in his neck and throat the body of Raphaelo Papateli, an Italian laborer, was found in the Olean creek, within 200 feet of the principal business street in the city. The position of the wounds indicates that the man was murdered. The man came to Olean from Shinglehouse, Pa. The police have as yet no clue.

SOARS OVER BATTLESHIPS

Commandant of League Island in Aeroplane Flight.

SKIMS ALONG THE RIVER

Captain Grant Was Pleased With His Experience and Predicts Government Will Adopt the System.

Philadelphia, June 16.—Commandant Grant, of the Philadelphia navy yard, took advantage of a day of idleness and accepted Marshall Reid's offer to make a flight in his hydroplane.

Starting from League Island, Reid and Captain Grant flew far above the huge battleships anchored at the water front, waving in acknowledgment to the cheers of the sailors and the tugboat sirens.

Captain Grant was the fifth passenger. Previous to this flight Reid carried Henry Farley, Mrs. R. T. Menner, wife of Lieutenant R. T. Menner; Mrs. R. T. Gill, wife of Lieutenant R. T. Gill, and Mrs. J. Burton Mustin, sister of the aviator.

While Captain Grant was aloft with Reid his command of the navy yard temporarily ceased, and according to the regulations Lieutenant Menner was the acting commandant.

Asked as to whether he thought the hydroplane might be introduced into the service of the government as a means of communication and conveyance, Captain Grant replied that he believed it is a question of time only. He was decidedly pleased with the flight and upon reaching the landing he stepped out of the hydroplane and, turning to a crowd of officers who stood on the embankment ready to fly with Reid, said that he'd go up again were there not others who wished to fly.

He expressed surprise at the ease with which the "boat" sailed the air as well as it skimmed the water, and although he said that he liked the sensation of flying in the air better than he did on the water, he was more than pleased to find that the hydroplane could do both so well.

Reid was watched by the largest crowd that has yet witnessed his flights at League Island, and the calmness of the air made ideal flying weather. He guessed the altitude on his flight with Commandant Grant to be more than 200 feet, the highest in the air he had been up to that time with his craft.

WORRIED BY UNCLAIMED GOLD

U. S. Treasury Holding Bullion For Owner For Half Century.

Washington, June 16.—More than a half century ago there were handed to Uncle Sam three bags of gold worth about $600, and he is still holding the bags of gold.

Some thirty years ago Uncle Sam received a bag of valuable silver bullion and the owner has left it with him ever since.

This gold and silver has been a great nuisance to the accounting officers of the federal government, who know not what to do with it, and Comptroller of the Treasury Downey has just decided it is a problem for congress.

In an effort to clear the accounts George Roberts, director of the mint, appealed to the comptroller to know if he could cover it into the treasury to the credit of the men who presented it. The comptroller holds such a course would require an act of congress.

In 1856 H. J. Peters brought $127.85 worth of gold bullion to the San Francisco mint; in 1858, Joseph Baker presented $333.27, and in 1863 J. M. Southern handed over $156.96. Each got a receipt and was told to come back for a gold certificate as soon as the government ascertained the value of the bullion. They have never returned.

In 1882 Thomas F. Davis brought 180.90 ounces of silver bullion to the New York assay office to be made into fine silver bars and has not been seen since.

Attempt to Bribe Senator.

Santa Barbara, Cal., June 16.—C. Ercanbrach was arrested by a deputy United States marshal on a federal indictment charging him with an attempt to bribe United States Senator John D. Works. Ercanbrach wanted the appointment of postmaster at Santa Barbara, and is alleged to have written a letter to Senator Works offering $1000 if the appointment were procured for him.

R. H. Bushman

Cleaner

Steers on Clover. Cattle receiving a full feed of grain can be run on red clover pasture without great danger of loss from bloating; cattle not receiving grain on clover pasture are never entirely free from this danger. writes F. G. King, Purdue experiment station, in the Breeder's Gazette. Losses from bloat can nevertheless be almost eliminated by taking the necessary precautions. Some dry roughage should be kept accessible to the cattle at all times. The cattle should not be turned on pasture for the first time while the clover is wet with either dew or rain. They should also be full of dry roughage so they will not eat too greedily of the green clover.

The most successful and satisfactory method of pasturing clover is when timothy or some similar grass is mixed with the clover for pasture. This greatly reduces the danger from bloating and does not decrease the value of the pasture.

Pasture For Calves.

Calves ought to have a pasture for their special use. It must have good running water, plenty of high ground and some dense shade where they may retreat from flies and sleep a portion of every day, because, like all young things, they need more sleep than adult animals. The pasture must be fenced so as to keep the calves in and other stock out. If at any time they are to be turned into richer feed caution must be used that they are not injured by it. An hour or two the first day and slowly increasing the time each day, is the wise course. Fortunately calves and young cattle are subject to but few diseases, and may be raised at a good profit by the use of a little common sense.

SERIOUS ERROR IN GETTYSBURG

Gettysburg Citizens Will Do Well to Profit by the Following.

Many fatal cases of kidney disease have reached an incurable stage because the patient did not understand the symptoms. Even today in Gettysburg there are many residents making the same serious error. They attribute their mysterious aches and pains to overwork, or worry, perhaps, when all the time their rheumatic pains, backache and bladder irregularities are most probably due to weak and ailing kidneys. If you are ill, if your kidneys are out of order, profit by this Gettysburg resident's experience.

F. G. McCammon, Gettysburg, Pa., says: "I first used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago and I still take them occasionally, although I seldom need a kidney medicine. I suffered for quite awhile from weak kidneys and a painful back. I tried several remedies and doctored, but with little success until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. This preparation rid my system of the pains and aches."

TAMAQUA SWEPT BY $75,000 BLAZE

Fire Starts in Stable and Many Buildings Burn.

Tamaqua, Pa., June 16.—What proved to be the most costly fire in the history of this town occurred on Sunday, and although the firemen had the flames under control after three hours' work, eleven buildings and twelve horses were destroyed, entailing an estimated loss of $75,000, more than half covered by insurance.

The fire started in Lutz's livery stable on Cedar street. Its origin is unknown. This building, together with twelve horses, was quickly burned and the flames spread so quickly that a call for aid was sent to the surrounding towns.

The Lansford and Summit Hill fire departments responded promptly and the Mahanoy City and Pottsville departments were in readiness, but the fire was gotten under control without their assistance being needed.

Nothing could have saved considerable portion of the town here been a wind, but a dead end prevailed.

The principal losers and the estimated losses are: Remaley Manufacturing company, $40,000; Lutz's stables and live stock, $10,000; Bond & Wood, wheelwrights and blacksmiths, $7500; J. A. Moyer, double dwelling, $3000; A. L. Hadesty, warehouse, $3000; H. E. Carter, stable, $1500; C. A. Haas, warehouse and stable, $1000; G. L. R. Walker, garage, $1000; Anthony Wolf, stable, $8000; J. Brell, stable, $800; Thomas and Michael Porcell, stables, $1000. Many surrounding properties were slightly damaged.

BAD BEAR ONLY A BOY

Women and Children Much Frightened by His Antics.

Hagerstown, Md., June 16.—For several weeks residents of Ringgold, at the foot of South mountain, have been alarmed by the frequent appearance of what they thought was a bear.

Women and children were afraid to venture far from home, and the men carried guns to be ready for Bruin's appearance. Hunting parties were formed and the region was traversed at night for the bear.

All the trouble was caused by a youth, who enacted the part of Bruin. Dressing in fur and making sounds resembling those of a bear by drawing a rosinced stick over a string attached to a nail keg with one end covered with leather, he roamed about at night and terrorized the community.

The "bear" was shot at several times, but was not hit. When the chase became too warm the youth threw off his disguise.

Sale to commence at 11:30. Terms made known on day of sale by M. J. SETTLE.

11 MEN KILLED BY FALL OF ROCK

Thousands of Tons Drop in New York Subway.

VICTIMS BADLY MUTILATED

Huge Stones at Top of Excavation Were Jerked Loose by Explosion and Fell Upon Laborers.

New York, June 16.—Eleven men were killed and two were injured when a section of the lower or express level of the Lexington avenue subway, under construction at Fifty-sixth street and Lexington avenue, caved in.

With a roaring sound 2000 tons of granite ripped loose from the top of the excavation and smashed into splinters on the rock bottom beneath.

The parts of the roof that fell is probably about forty feet long. There is twenty feet of solid rock between the local and express levels of the subway at this point, and much of this was loosened at a with of perhaps thirty-five or forty feet.

In eleven hours the rescuers had gotten out two men who were only touched by the edge of the mass of rock and three others who were dead. Parts of three bodies could be seen where half-ton rocks, in falling, had bridged over.

The gang foreman in charge said that his records showed that there are five more men buried deeper in the wreckage. There is not a chance of life for any of these.

The dead men are all Italians, employed by the Bradley Construction company, which has the contract to build this section of the Lexington avenue subway, known as section eight.

The men who were killed all belonged to the gang whose duty it was to fill the bucket.

A heavy charge of dynamite tore loose several tons of rock, and Superintendent Wallace, in charge of the work, put his men to work filling the bucket, so the hole could be freed of the wreckage.

The men had the bucket half filled when the cave-in occurred. Directly above where the men were working a piece of stone which weighed seven tons jerked itself free and fell on the bucket, crushing it in half.

Almost before the huge stone had landed the entire roof of the excavation wrenched itself free. Solid pieces of rock, varying in size from a 100 pounds or so up to pieces of several tons, pulled loose with a crash that could be heard all the way up to the street.

The laborers were flattened beyond recognition. Coroner Holtzhauser said it was the worst case of criminal negligence he had ever encountered in his experience as a coroner.

WIDOW GETS 1861 LETTER

Husband's War Comrade Forgot to Mail it and Died Recently.

Pottsville, Pa., June 16.—A letter written from Fort Washington, Md., May 20, 1861, by Henry C. Russell, of Pottsville, a First Defender, reaches his widow in Pottsville on Saturday through the regular channels of the United States mail.

The letter was entrusted to a comrade, M. E. Richards, of Pottsville, to mail, and was never sent.

Recently Mr. Richards died, and the letter, sealed and stamped, was found among some old papers. The letter was posted.

The letter contained a piece of the shirt of Colonel E. E. Ellsworth, worn when he was shot and killed a short time before at Alexandria, Va., where he had been down the Confederate flag from the Marshall house. The letter is in an excellent state of preservation.

VANDAL IN PEACH ORCHARD

Wantonly Destroys Over 500 Trees While Farmer Sleeps.

Camden, N. J., June 16.—Complete mystery surrounds the destruction of 525 young peach trees of the farm of Martin Kahout, at Atco near here.

Not a single tree was left standing each being chopped down close to the ground. The entire squad of county detectives is working on the case, and as Mr. Kahout can advance no reason why he should be made the victim of such wanton vandalism the sleuths are groping in the dark.

The trees were two years old and would have borne fruit next year. Each was valued at $2.50, and Mr. Kahout expected to gather $1500 from the yearly crop.

WOMAN AND OLD LOVER FOUND DEAD

Woods Disclose Tragedy Near Hazleton.

Hazleton, Pa., June 16.—The bodies of Mahlon Wetzel, thirty-three years old, and Mrs. William Schlenker, thirty-two years old, were discovered in the woods near Weatherly.

There was a bullet wound in the woman's right breast, while Wetzel, who was the owner of a tobacco store in Weatherly, was shot through the heart. A pistol was clutched in his hand.

Mrs. Schlenker was the wife of a fireman and was the sweetheart of Wetzel before her marriage ten years ago.

The couple met at Weatherly on Saturday and hired a horse, which they drove to the country. The animal returned to it stable, but no investigation of the couple's absence was made until their bodies were discovered. Nothing was left to explain what appears to have been a murder and suicide.

U. S. WINS POLO MATCH

Challenger Defeated in Last Contest by Only Quarter of a Point.

New York, June 16.—Americans successfully defended the Meadowbrook cup again by defeating England in the hardest fought match in the history of the international trophy. The score was 4½ to 4¼ goals.

Through eight periods 40,000 persons cheered an exhibition of polo skill that left little to choose between the American four and the English four. The splendid team work and strategy of the Englishmen carried them to within a pony's stride of victory, but could not prevail against the headlong dash of Stoddard and Waterbury, the generalship of Whitney and the resourcefulness of Milburn.

HAS EAR IN HIS POCKET

Bitten Off Victim Who Calmly Hands It to Judge.

New Haven, Conn., June 16.—When the attorney for the defense asked Joseph Bodkin who had become of his ear, which Bodkin stated the defendant, Mariano Fygalokowski, had bitten off, in the city court, Bodkin calmly took the severed ear out of his pocket and handed it to the judge. The defendant was bound over to the superior court.

Shoots His Wife, Cuts His Throat.

Hagerstown, Md., June 16.—Bush R. Willis, aged thirty-two years, who several weeks ago was separated from his wife, walked into the house where she has been keeping boarders, shot three bullets into her and then cut his own throat with a penknife, dying instantly. Mrs. Willis was taken to the Washington county hospital and her condition is critical. Jealousy inspired Willis to the deed.

When "A-m" Spells "Am."

One of the supposed niceties of speech which to many ears seem overnice is the pronunciation of the word program when the French termination "me" is left off. These careful folk try to shorten the sound of the "a" with the shortening of the word. But "gram" spells "gram" in English and may safely be so pronounced wherever it is found. Nobody says telegram. Why, then, say program?—Christian Science Monitor.

A Secret

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

The day I was twenty-one years old I was walking on the street when a gentleman accosted me, saying: "You are Joseph Stirling, I believe."

"I am," I replied, surprised, for I had no knowledge of the man what ever.

"If you will call on me at my office you will hear something which you may or may not consider to your advantage. But I warn you to say nothing about this meeting until you have heard what I have to say."

Handing me a card with his name Francis Doyle, and his address on it he turned away and was soon lost in the crowd.

I was naturally much disconcerted I walked about aimlessly for an hour then went to the address given me.

"Today you come into an inheritance of $300,000," he said to me.

"What?"

"He repeated."

"You don't mean it?"

"But I have something else to tell you that you may not wish to hear."

I paled and waited.

"You are not the son of either of your parents nor the brother of your supposed brothers and sisters."

This was indeed a blow. I dearly loved all of those he had mentioned I had no heart to ask him to proceed but he did.

"When your supposed father and mother were first married no children were born to them. This was a great disappointment to your father especially. Friction came between them, and they separated. In time your supposed mother, believing that the birth of a child would bring back her husband, took you from your mother when you were born and wrote him that a child had been born to her and him. He returned to her, and a reconciliation was established.

"Those whom you have considered your brothers and sisters came on, the real children of Mr. and Mrs. Stirling. Only Mrs. Stirling knows that you are not her son. Your own mother was of good family who made a runaway match with your father. He was unable to take care of her and died, the cause of his death being his poverty. You were born shortly after his death, and at that time it occurred to Mrs. Stirling to offer an adopted son to her husband instead of a real one.

"Your own mother placed with a law firm a record of your birth and the persons who had adopted you. That was twenty-one years ago. I was then a clerk in the employ of the firm and am now the firm myself. Cousins of yours who would have inherited certain property have died, and you are the heir. It has become my duty to notify you of your inheritance. This has involved giving you the other information concerning your birth. If you accept the fortune the secret must come out, for your supposed father must necessarily know whence came your fortune. What change this may make in the present relations between husband and wife it is impossible to tell."

He had given me the situation in a nutshell. I was like a venter vane in a changing wind—two air currents disputing for the mastery. On the one side there was the possession of $300,000, on the other the revelation of a secret that would give my dear mother pain—I could not at once consider her as not my mother—make trouble between her and father and make known to my brothers and sisters that I was of a different family.

But all this was not in complete possession of my mind. The shock I had received on learning that I did not really belong to those I loved was uppermost. I dreaded the first meeting with them all after the information I had received. I should certainly give away the fact that there was something on my mind, and doubtless mother or would suspect what it was. What a life she must have led, dreading always that her secret would come out!

"Well," said the attorney, "I presume you will take time to recover from the information I have given you and devise some means of softening the blow to Mr. Stirling?"

"I will think over what is best to be done in the premises," I replied, "and let you know."

I left him a different man from what I had been when I entered his office. Going to a telephone, I called up my home and informed the household that I was going somewhere with a friend and could not tell just when I would be at home. How I wished I could go to father or mother for advice! This being obliged to settle so important a matter without any one to consult with was, to say the least, trying.

The next day I went home. For the others it was the same home it always had been, but an invisible gulf had come between them and me. Father welcomed me; mother kissed me with her wonted affection.

The same afternoon I gave in my decision to the attorney. My fortune went into a hospital, the name of the donor being kept secret. I signed a lot of papers and departed somewhat relieved. The evening I spent at home trying to analyze the madness I felt. It was not for the loss of a fortune, but for the knowledge that had come to me.

The secret has been kept. Mother does not know that I am aware of it, and she shall never know. We are the same happy family, but—I wish that lawyer could have got rid of my patrimony without my knowledge.

OUR TOUGHEST WOOD.

Osage Orange Is Stronger Than Hickory or Honey Locust.

The toughest American wood is that of the Osage orange, which is not an orange at all, but belongs to the nettle family. This has been proved by a series of tests made by the United States forest service, but the Indians knew it before the coming of the white man, and it was known to them as the bow tree, because they used it for making their finest bows.

Some idea of its strength may be had from a report made by the forest service, which shows that a block 30 inches long and 2 by 2 inches in cross section when bent breaks under a stress of 13,600 pounds, its nearest rival being a variety of the hickory called mockernut. When bent by the impact of a hundred pound hammer it stands a stress of 15,520 pounds, certain sugar maples and the honey locust being its nearest rivals. It exceeds the hickories, and its only rival in hardness, tested by the force required to embed a .44 inch ball to one-half its diameter, is the honey locust.—New York World.

Good Map Engravers Scarce.

No finer maps are made than the engraved topographic atlas sheets of the United States geological survey. In accuracy of detail as well as in quality of printing the survey asserts, with little fear of contradiction, that its maps lead all others, wherever printed. Great advances have been made in recent years in various phases of the printing art, but for fine map work, strange as it may seem, no process has yet been found equal to the original hand engraving, which is still essentially the same process that it was generations ago. The skilled copper plate engraver who cuts on his metal base the thin lines which reproduce the map is as necessary now as he was during the middle of the last century. Not every one can be a successful engraver. It requires a fine touch and a good eye.

WORK THE STALLION.

Fat Animals of Either Sex Are Likely to Be Shy Breeders.

Nothing an article recently as to care of stallions prompted me to give a bit of my experience, writes J. C. Sidle in the Rural New Yorker. Years ago, with horses a drug on the market, a very good one not being worth over $100, I thought I saw in the future of the horse business money for the man who laid a good foundation from a breeding standpoint. I started with this idea to procure the nicest, best brood mares obtainable; gave a local horse buyer an order for a pair of the best mares he could get in Iowa. They came, good ones, nice looking, attractive animals. The best, nicest looking, fattest stallion was selected as the sire of my future money makers. As to results, there were no results. One mare would not breed; the other would not carry her foal to maturity. Not discouraged, I went to the same source for another pair of breeding animals, procured them and had slightly better results, but as long as I kept the dams hog fat and bred to sires in the same condition without exercise the rule was to bury the offspring until I had a veritable colt graveyard upon my farm.

I changed my base, selected the best home bred mares I could get, paid attention to their ancestry as to raising

For size, style, quickness of movement and ability and willingness to put shoulders into the collar the Percheron horse is hard to beat. Of course, there are other good breeds, several of them, and they make splendid drafters. The Percherons, however, are the most numerous of the heavy draft animals in the United States, and they are justly prized for their fine qualities. Draft horses are in big demand—in fact, the demand exceeds the supply—so it behooves the farmer to raise a few good ones. The Percheron mare shown is owned by the University of Tennessee agricultural experiment station.

colts, bought a stallion of my own, put him in the team, made him earn his keep outside the stud and have today my third stallion along this line. The exception today is to bury the colt, the rule to raise them. The same principle holds good with both sire and dam. Both should be kept in good, hard flesh and thin, exercised or worked daily, and the sire becomes as tractable in the hands of a master as the dam. Notice the word master. Not every one is capable of working a stallion, and he should not be trusted in the hands of any one but a master. The principles involved in glove took many years to work out, and had the writer started on the same basis upon which he works today he would be several thousand dollars better off.

Skin Troubles of Horses.

When a horse commences to rub its tail and mane it should be fed lightly and worked freely if treatment is to be effective. The horse must also be cleaned thoroughly and kept clean, while the hair and skin at the tail and mane should be scrubbed with soap and hot water. The washed parts should then be dried thoroughly with sawdust and a healing lotion applied to control the itching and soothe the inflamed skin. Flowers of sulphur and sweet oil, mixed to the consistency of cream, with an ounce of a coal tar dip added to each pint of the mixture is a simple and excellent application. This lotion should be rubbed well into the roots of the hair. It should not be washed off, but repeated every three days.

Time Is Sometimes Kind.

Father Time is not always a hard parent and, though he carries for none of his children, often lays his hand lightly upon those who have used him well, making them old men and women inexorably enough, but leaving their hearts and spirits young and in full vigor. With such people the gray head is but the impression of the old fellow's hand in giving them his blessing and every wrinkle but a notch in the quiet calendar of a well spent life.—Barnaby Rudge.

A Roland For an Oliver.

Although no saying is in more common use than "Roland for an Oliver," yet few are acquainted with its origin. The expression signifies the giving of an equivalent. Roland and Oliver were two comrades who were famous knights in romance known in early French history for their valor. The wonderful achievements of the one can only be equaled by those of the other, and so we have the phrase, "Roland for an Oliver."

Obstructed Test.

The induration at the end of the test should be cut through in four different directions by means of a sterilized test bistoury. Then strip out a stream of milk several times a day while the wounds are healing.

A pretty good fish story comes from Boston to the effect that a fisherman named John Meuse hauled a lobster aboard the other day three feet long and weighing in the neighborhood of ten pounds. It had claws eighteen inches long and is thought to have been at least twenty-five years old. The lobster attacked the man on being hauled into the boat, but was put out of business with an oar after biting the legs of his captor.

According to figures lately issued by the bureau of statistics at Washington, the cost of living was higher during the closing months of 1912 than for any period during the preceding twenty-three years. In 1890 the cost of a year's food supply for an average workingman's family was $296; in 1896, $274, and in 1912, $443. From these figures it is clear that there has been an increase in the prices of food stuffs of about 60 per cent since the year 1890.

HIRING A SERVANT.

It Was Different Four Centuries Ago From What It Is Now.

A contract entered into in 1543 between a Professor Elcholz and a servant girl, Hilla von Hattingen, is recorded in a history of civilization by Herman Keussen. Elcholz, who was a wealthy man, expressly declares that the engagement was entered into in the presence of a female witness. She answered for it that Hilla would prove to be an honorable and dutiful servant. Hilla herself promised to be a good and true servant to her future lord and master.

He demands first and foremost that in spinning, marketing, and so forth, she shall do her very best and look after his interests, to see that they do not suffer and not allow herself to be fleeced by the shopkeepers and marketwomen. He cannot permit of her wearing silks and satins. She must take great care of his house in his absence and not permit her gossips and other good friends to run in an out, nor must she herself run off to other houses to gossip. If she is visited by a serious illness, "which may God in his great mercy prevent," she must leave the house and stay with friends. In that case she is not to receive a penny more wages than she has been getting.

The professor allows her so many kitchen aprons, but they remain his property. She must pay for her breakages when they are at all serious. If she refuses to agree to any of these conditions her master has a right to discharge her on a fortnight's notice. She hires herself out for a year from March 1 to March 1. Her wages are to be $2 a year, but in addition to this she is to receive a Christmas present of 50 cents, a dress as an inducement to ply her spinning wheel diligently, and a pair of shoes.

HORSE WISDOM.

When colts fail to shed their coats at the proper season mix a great spoonful of flaxseed meal with the grain ration morning and night until the old coat is all off.

The pedigreed sire has been the power in building up size and draft form in our American stock of horses.

A blanket of fat on a horse, like charity, is a mantle that often serves to cover a multitude of defects.

It is expensive carelessness to hitch a warm horse inadequately protected from raw winds or a drizzling rain.

Are you keeping a lot of horses for which you have no special need? Let the other fellow have them at present prices.

See to it that the colt does not become constipated. A small dose of castor oil is a good thing to get the bowels started.

Of No Practical Value.

"These school books are a regular fraud," said Mrs. Nuritch.

"What's the matter with 'em?" her husband asked.

"Look at this goggerly of Willie's. There ain't a single road map in it!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

CARE OF ORCHARDS.

When the western orchard expert, who gives most intensive care to his trees in the matter of cultivation as well as in pruning, spraying and thinning, gets only a nominal price for his fancy fruit it is not difficult to see why thousands upon thousands of barrels of apples in central and eastern states, where orchards are used for calf pastures and given no other care and where the fruit is affected with scab, worms and San Jose scale, do not pay to haul to town, much less ship to a distant market. If there is any one conclusion that the writer is coming to more than another as a result of several years' experience in the fruit raising business it is that fruit growing can be made to pay only when it is conducted as a primary rather than a secondary interest and where it is not reduced to the level of a side issue and makeshift or worse. Not even the expert who gives his orchard the best possible care will do well every year, but in the long run he is the only one who can expect to succeed.

HAVE GOT TO QUIT IT.

With rental of land advancing to $5 and $6 an acre it means that ultimately every farmer in the corn belt will have to make a more economical disposal of his corn crop than that exhibited in husking the grain and allowing the "aves and stalks to weather in the fall and winter sun and wind. Cutting the crop with blower and either putting it in rainproof shocks or shredding it and running it into a silo are the two ways out, and in many respects the latter method is better than the former. The silo can be filled rain or shine, and the question whether the silage keeps well or not is entirely independent of the weather. Besides this, it furnishes a succulent ration during the winter months, which is greatly relished by both the dairy cow, feeding steer and young stuff.

If small patches of quack grass appear in the garden care should be taken to dig the roots out as nearly whole as possible and to remove them from the soil. If the patch is in the border of the garden under the fruit trees it may be exterminated by covering with strips of tar paper, allowing them to overlap and covering the joints with earth. This is the smoother process and is effective for small areas.

A Question of Etiquette.

"The horse and the cow is in the field," read the teacher. "Mary, what is wrong with that sentence?"

Mary, says the New York Tribune, was evidently more versed in the rules of politeness than in the rules of grammar, for she answered promptly: "The lady should be mentioned first."

Where Style Is Looked Out For

If you want to radiate style either at home or on your Summer vacation.

Acquaintances away from home, at the seashore, mountains, or elsewhere are pretty apt to judge your position in life, and surely your taste, by your clothes—although the judgment as to position may be unfair.

You need not necessarily be expensively dressed to be well dressed. Style as we show it, at our moderate profits, does not require lavish expenditure. The simple muslin frock may be more effective, when made as our goods are made, than the over-wrought creation in much more expensive material.

So any woman buying her clothing from us, no matter how little she may want to spend, will be stylishly dressed.

For the vacation—one of our Tailored Suits—now much reduced in price. Two or three simple morning Wash Dresses, two or three extra Waists and Wash Skirts—and one of our beautiful Voile or French Mousseline Dresses for evening—will make an outfit pretty enough—stylish enough for any resort.

An extra Coat may be needed for cool evenings—A Kimona or two for the bed room. And if these things are bought from our well assorted stock you will be WELL and stylishly dressed, and at SMALL COST.
